

Wellview Health Expands Clinical Support Team in Response to High Engagement & Growth

Nashville, TN (September 2019) – Wellview Health, the industry’s leading healthcare engagement company, is expanding the company’s clinical support team in response to high engagement rates, growing consumer needs, and company growth.

Wellview Analytics™ data shows 85% of eligible participants engage with a Wellview Health Advisor, due in large part to the company’s proprietary high-tech high touch Health Advisor-guided model. With growing engagement rates and new companies partnered with Wellview for 2020, Wellview announces the addition of Health Advisor Jasmin Murray (BA, CHWC), Health Advisor and Personal Trainer Andrew Jacobs (CHC, CPT), and Registered Dietitian Rick Weissinger (MS, RD, LD, CHC) to the company’s team of advisors and specialists.

Mental health has especially become a growing concern, with nearly 1 in 5 U.S. adults (44.7 million people) reporting an experience with mental illness.^[1] Wellview has seen a 65% increase in mental health appointments over the past year alone and has expanded the company’s team of Mental Health Specialists to support the growing need. In partnership with Level Therapy, Emily Marsicano (LMFT, ATR), a Marriage, Family, and Clinical Arts Therapist, as well as Lorraine Edey (PhD, LCSW, AFC, SAP), a Licensed Mental Health Therapist have been added to the Wellview Network of Health Specialists.

“At Wellview, our participant-driven Health Advisor supported model is what drives our growing health engagement rates. We are passionate about being a trusted consumer brand in health engagement and creating an amazing consumer experience. With a rapidly growing client base, as well as increasing need for consumer support around nutrition, healthy weight, diabetes prevention, work/life balance, and mental health, we’re excited to expand our Health Advisor and Clinical Support team to deliver on our promise,” says Wellview Health CEO and Co-Founder, James Story.

As a leading health engagement company, Wellview Health works alongside mid- and large-sized employers to improve employee access to and utilization of health and well-being benefits. Wellview’s growing team is part of the company’s commitment to increase consumer engagement, impact health outcomes, and lower costs by changing the way people engage with healthcare and health benefits.

Wellview Health continues to focus on strategic expansion in 2019 and 200% growth in 2020. To learn more about Wellview Health, please visit us at www.wellviewhealth.com, LinkedIn, or Twitter.

^[1] “Mental Health in the Workplace” Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. April 10, 2019. <www.cdc.gov/workplacehealthpromotion/tools-resources/workplace-health/mental-health/index.html>

ABOUT WELLVIEW HEALTH

Wellview Health is a results-driven, consumer-focused health engagement and management company that is changing the way people discover, engage with, and access healthcare in the U.S. We use a predictive and preventative approach to help consumers navigate the complexities of healthcare, and create proactive lifestyle change that improves overall health and well-being. Our multi-disciplinary health solutions approach integrates personal health education, clinical provider services, behavioral health support and advocacy, and simplified access and navigation of healthcare services and providers to improve health outcomes and lower healthcare costs.

CONTACT

To learn more, please contact:

Carla Denham, Chief Marketing Officer

810 Dominican Dr., Nashville, TN 37203

Office: (615) 326-5783 | Mobile: (615) 714-1559

cdenham@wellviewhealth.com